PLANNING APPLICATIONS

Planning application data is supplied to Landmark by Barbour ABI and is derived from weekly planning lists. Geographical locations for each application are identified by Landmark and those that can be located to an address are included in the Promap IQ report.

Some of the records included in the report may not have an Application ID or Application date. Such records contain information gathered from the trade press or tender requests and, in most cases, will be in the very early pre-planning stage. The proposed works may not require planning permission at all.

Records are split into large and small applications. Large applications date from 1997 and have an estimated value above £100,000, small applications date from 1998 and have an estimated value below £100,000. Minor applications, such as those covering conservatories, porches, signs and car ports, are not included.

With some applications that do not have definite addresses it is extremely difficult to identify an exact grid reference location. Examples are those relating to road, railways, utilities and applications for larger developments that do not have definite addresses. For these applications Landmark allocates an approximate position which falls within the wider geographical area and these will be noted under the location accuracy as "Wider Area". We advise you should check with the Local Authority for further details

Please note: Where an application is refused it is possible that it may later be granted on appeal. Landmark's data provider will continue to monitor refused applications but there may be a delay before any appeal information is reflected in Landmark's database. If an application less than six months old is shown as refused and it would be a concern if it was eventually granted we recommend you should check with the relevant local planning authority.
